

Sure Access to Success

SUPER TEST - 1

HOMONYMS

Prof. Tommy Cherian

8547006780

The judge found the argument sound in principle.

- a) The sound echoed across the chamber.
- b) The structure was sound and stable.
- c) He made a sound investment.
- d) The theory produced a sound conclusion.

1. The judge found the argument sound in principle.

a) The sound echoed across the chamber.

b) The structure was sound and stable.

c) He made a sound investment.

d) The theory produced a sound conclusion.

The judge found the argument sound in principle.

a) The sound echoed across the chamber.

b) The structure was sound and stable.

c) He made a sound investment.

d) The theory produced a sound conclusion.

Explanation:

Sound (original): valid

Sound (a): audible noise (true homonym)

2. The artisan carefully polished the file.

- a) The clerk saved the document in the file.
- b) The carpenter used a metal file to smooth edges.
- c) The archivist catalogued each file.
- d) The secretary misplaced the file.

The artisan carefully polished the file.

- a) The clerk saved the document in the file.
- b) The carpenter used a metal file to smooth edges.
- c) The archivist catalogued each file.
- d) The secretary misplaced the file.

The artisan carefully polished the file.

a) The clerk saved the document in the file.

b) The carpenter used a metal file to smooth edges.

c) The archivist catalogued each file.

d) The secretary misplaced the file.

Explanation:

File (tool) vs file (document folder).

3. The captain had to steer the vessel through the narrow, rocky strait.

- a) The steer was led to the market to be sold along with the other livestock.
- b) You must steer clear of the political controversies in the capital.
- c) The pilot managed to steer the aircraft safely through the turbulence.
- d) The farmer decided to steer the conversation toward the price of grain.

3. The captain had to steer the vessel through the narrow, rocky strait.

a) The steer was led to the market to be sold along with the other livestock.

b) You must steer clear of the political controversies in the capital.

c) The pilot managed to steer the aircraft safely through the turbulence.

d) The farmer decided to steer the conversation toward the price of grain.

3. The captain had to steer the vessel through the narrow, rocky strait.

a) The steer was led to the market to be sold along with the other livestock.

b) You must steer clear of the political controversies in the capital.

c) The pilot managed to steer the aircraft safely through the turbulence.

d) The farmer decided to steer the conversation toward the price of grain.

Explanation:

In (a), steer is a castrated male bovine. In the prompt and in (b), (c), and (d), steer is literal or physical "guiding."

4. The historian examined the royal seal on the document.

a) The officer stamped the official seal

b) A playful seal surfaced beside the boat.

c) The king impressed his seal upon the charter.

d) The clerk inspected the broken seal.

4. The historian examined the royal seal on the document.

a) The officer stamped the official seal

b) A playful seal surfaced beside the boat.

c) The king impressed his seal upon the charter.

d) The clerk inspected the broken seal.

5. The professor explained the statistical mean carefully.

a) His mean behaviour shocked the audience.

b) The teacher recalculated the mean score.

c) The report analysed the mean value.

d) The mathematician confirmed the mean.

5. The professor explained the statistical mean carefully.

a) His mean behaviour shocked the audience.

b) The teacher recalculated the mean score.

c) The report analysed the mean value.

d) The mathematician confirmed the mean.

6. The lawyer filed an appeal against the decision.

a) The judge rejected the appeal.

b) The charity launched a public appeal.

c) The court heard the appeal.

d) The lawyer submitted another appeal.

6. The lawyer filed an appeal against the decision.

a) The judge rejected the appeal.

b) The charity launched a public appeal.

c) The court heard the appeal.

d) The lawyer submitted another appeal.

7. The teacher asked students to object politely if necessary.

- a) The witness refused to object.
- b) The lawyer decided to object.
- c) The senator chose not to object.
- d) The museum displayed a rare object.

7. The teacher asked students to object politely if necessary.

- a) The witness refused to object.
- b) The lawyer decided to object.
- c) The senator chose not to object.
- d) The museum displayed a rare object.

8. The judge delivered a grave warning.

- a) The situation was grave.
- b) The doctor gave a grave diagnosis.
- c) The soldier's grave lay under the oak.
- d) The report sounded grave.

8. The judge delivered a grave warning.

a) The situation was grave.

b) The doctor gave a grave diagnosis.

c) The soldier's grave lay under the oak.

d) The report sounded grave.

9. The scholar analysed the content carefully.

a) She seemed content with the outcome.

b) The article's content was dense.

c) The report contained useful content.

d) The lecture covered the content.

9. The scholar analysed the content carefully.

a) She seemed content with the outcome.

b) The article's content was dense.

c) The report contained useful content.

d) The lecture covered the content.

10. The botanist studied the root.

- a) The root cause was identified.
- b) The root grew deep.
- c) The root supports the plant.
- d) The root of the equation is 2.

10. The botanist studied the root.

a) The root cause was identified.

b) The root grew deep.

c) The root supports the plant.

d) The root of the equation is 2.

11. The scholar examined the grave issue.

- a) The grave was dug.
- b) The grave concern persisted.
- c) The grave looked ancient.
- d) The grave was decorated.

11. The scholar examined the grave issue.

- a) The grave was dug.
- b) The grave concern persisted.
- c) The grave looked ancient.
- d) The grave was decorated.

11. The scholar examined the grave issue.

a) The grave was dug.

b) The grave concern persisted.

c) The grave looked ancient.

d) The grave was decorated.